

Henry B. Woodhush

Kimblestone Pass Inn

LL 2567

TUCK'S POST CARD.

CARTE POSTALE.

POSTKARTE.

Kirkstone Pass Inn is about 1,470 feet above the level of the sea and is the highest inhabited house in the Lake District. Travellers stop here on their way from Ambleside to Ullswater. At the inn a book is kept in which visitors enter their names, and one old entry runs as follows:

The Sunday traveller on the Kirkstone Pass
Is bonâ-fide, and may have his glass;
So, gentle stranger, do not stop to think,
Open your mouth, throw back your head, and drink.

Dear A. Pleased to hear you are feeling better sorry
I have not written before. Hope you will like this card Love
from Alice

Printed in England.

(FOR ADDRESS ONLY.)

Miss A. Walden
3 Berkley Road
High Street North
Manor Park
E.

Henry B. Wadsworth

Keokuk Stone Pass Lane

1001

Printed in England.

CARTE POSTALE.

LL 2567

TUCK'S POST CARD.

POSTKARTE.

Kirkstone Pass Inn is about 1,470 feet above the level of the sea and is the highest inhabited house in the Lake District. Travellers stop here on their way from Ambleside to Ullswater. At the inn a book is kept in which visitors enter their names, and one old entry runs as follows:—

The Sunday traveller on the Kirkstone Pass
Is bonâ-fide, and may have his glass;
So, gentle stranger, do not stop to think,
Open your mouth, throw back your head, and drink.

(FOR ADDRESS ONLY.)

C 7 P 2 12 . 9